

Too MUCH Too YOUNG

FLYNN MATTHEWS SACKED FROM SET OF HIS LATEST MOVIE

No one could accuse global megastar and millionaire Flynn Matthews of being a burden on the welfare state however he's most definitely done too much too young.

When most teenagers were worried about exams and hanging out with their friends Matthews was hanging with celebrities and notorious hell raisers so it's little wonder he's in the situation he is today.

Born in the summer of 1990 to housewife Marigold and former insurance agent Benjamin Matthews in the seaside town of Bognor Regis Flynn was quick to demonstrate his talents on stage.

At the tender age of 4 he was Winner of Chaption's 'Young Star in the Making' and was picked up by Models International shortly after.

It wasn't too long before his pushy parents were taking him to auditions for television roles however he didn't get his break until he was 16.

Disney plucked him from the obscurity of adverts, small bit TV parts and catalogue modelling to star in their movie True Friends. Nevertheless, it didn't give him instant stardom. Insiders say he was arrogant and difficult on set and this limited the type of roles he was offered. It wasn't until three years later that he was offered the role of Patric in the TV adaptation of the French novels Heros by Avery Sauville.

It catapulted him to stardom and after three years on the TV show he was a Hollywood star with two globally successful movies under his belt.

Statement from Brighter Pictures:
'Flynn Matthews is no longer working on the set of Life's A Bitch And Then You Die by mutual agreement. The role of Jason Green has been filled by Adam Cutler.'

Unconfirmed drug addiction rumours circulated but Matthews squashed them on becoming the poster boy for Celebs Against Drugs (CAD) three years ago.

It appeared his halo couldn't be tarnished until September of this year when the now infamous cocaine snorting video hit the internet. Since then Matthews's life has spiralled out of control.

His co-stars describe him in derogatory terms, mostly unprintable in a family newspaper. Not one has stepped forward to defend him.

His latest movie Sticks and Stones is set to premiere in London in December. With Celia Mason, who plays his mother in the movie, saying Matthews was obnoxious and foul-mouthed to her for most of the shoot it's hardly surprising that he has been fired from Life's A Bitch And Then You Die.

A simple case of too much too young. *Dez Cartwright
